Mobile Mechanic Hoddesdon

We are a Mobile Mechanic business in Hoddesdon and as such we thought we would share some interesting facts about our little part of the world! Did you know?

1. The name 'Hoddesdon' is probably derived from a Saxon or Danish personal name Hodd, Hodda, Oddo, or even Hogge.
2. The suffix 'don' is Old English for a down or a hill, and so the name could refer to a holding on the higher land beyond the marshy Lea valley bottom.
3. The first British (Non-Conformist) School was built in Esdaile Lane in 1841 by John Warner, a Quaker. Warner, a London foundry owner, built himself a house called Woodlands in Hoddesdon, and spent much of his later life in the town.
